A Quick Snapshot

History

The native Lenni Lenape Indians gave Paramus its name. It comes from the Lenape word “peramsepuss” sometimes translated as “land of the wild turkeys” or “fertile fields where turkeys are found.”

The earliest recorded pioneers in Paramus included Jacob Epke Banta 1686, Isaac Van Saun 1695, and Albert Zabriskie 1702.

General George Washington was a frequent traveler through Paramus during the American Revolution. The Library of Congress exhibits thirty letters George Washington wrote headed “Headquarters Paramus.” Although Paramus was mainly a farming community, it had at least two mills of record before 1945. One was the Red Mill which still stands today.

For additional history and facts, visit the Fritz Behnke Historical Museum at 330 Paramus Road and the Paramus Main Library. The library’s local history collection includes Paramus a Chronicle of Four Centuries by Frederick W Bogert, Paramus: The Way We Were 1922-1960 by Fritz Behnke, and the Borough of Paramus 50th Anniversary Commemorative Journal, 1922 to 1972.

What is a Stigma Free zone?

1 in 4 adults experience a diagnosable mental disorder in a given year, yet more than half will not seek treatment. Why? The main reasons cited are shame and fear of judgment from friends, family, and co-workers. In other words, the STIGMA associated with mental diseases - even though it’s a disease like any other. It is our goal to build a society where people are free of stigma and can get the help they need. We can build that society by banding together as a community, breaking down the walls, and showing others how they can do the same.

Here are 5 ways you can help eliminate stigma in Paramus (and beyond!)

1. Learn
   There are plenty of resources available to learn more about mental illness.

2. Be Kind
   Think about your behavior towards and responses to another who may be displaying symptoms.

3. Share
   We post helpful resources on our Facebook page. Share them with others.

4. Create Awareness
   Post one of our signs in front of your home or business to let others know you care.

5. Sponsor an Event
   Contact us for upcoming events and be a sponsor.
