

The purchase of recycled products is crucial to the success of New Jersey's many recycling programs, as well as recycling in general. When consumers purchase products made with recycled content materials, they help to create long-term stable markets for the recyclable materials that are collected from homes, businesses, and institutions. Recycled products are not only readily available, but they meet the highest quality standards. Insulation made from recycled denim jeans, copy paper made from recycled paper, driveway aggregate made from recycled concrete debris, outdoor decks made from recycled plastic and weight room flooring made from recycled tires are just some of the many recycled products available on the market. So, when shopping, remember to Buy Recycled!
